Dedication

To Treasure Island, a territory gained without aggression, where man has partly realized his peaceful and progressive aspirations, we dedicate this 1939 edition of the Napanee.

Jane Van Pelt, Editor.

Building of Treasures for the Future

This is the year of the Golden Gate International Exposition on Treasure Island and a "Treasure Island" it is, indeed. Man has collected there his triumphs of art, of medicine, of engineering, and of science in all its phases. We are prone to stand in awe and amazement at first before them, and then to take it for granted. Past generations have handed down to us these valuable achievements—their gift to us. We forget the sacrifice; life itself for some has gone into the treasures that are ours today. And where would we be without them?

Since we are such debtors, since we owe so much to generations that are past, the obligations of our generation are the greater to contribute our part to the progression of civilization. Let us contribute with honor our share to the race. There is much left for us to do in the field of medicine, proper housing and living conditions for all people, the intelligent use of our natural resources, and the achieving of a proper balance of our responsibilities of employment and of leisure living.

Probably the greatest of all things, Seniors, for your generation to achieve is the art of getting along together. Better relations and closer understanding between individuals, groups, and classes within our own country, and between nations must be achieved. It is a challenge to you of the younger generation to work these things through to their ultimate and happy conclusion.

Earle E. Crawford

The glory of man's inspiration and labor exemplified in the beauty of the towers, pyramids, and statues, as well as the scientific exhibits of Treasure Island, is impressive. Even more impressive is the challenge to youth for future contributions to this world of wonder.

Achievements which bring beauty, romance, and thrills to us who observe them bring an even greater satisfaction to those who have some part in their creation and portrayal. Prepare by thorough training, research, and hard work to let your inspirations guide you to worthy accomplishments.

Zelma Wisherd

In a world so upset as ours today, there is paramount need for us all, as real citizens, to do our separate and united best to keep orderly and sane ourselves, our communities, and our great United States. Let us borrow from "Treasure Island" the ideas and ideals of order and harmony, of beauty and progress and truth, and make them function in our lives and in all our human relationships.

Every girl enclled in Napa High is a member of the Girls' League, which has steadily grown in size and popularity since it was founded in 1928. During the first semester, the regular business meetings of each month were presided over by Georgina Throne, and by Velden Cantrell, the second. Program chairmen, Velden Cantrell and Janet Rapaport, always provided worthwhile entertainment after the business meetings. A council, composed of a representative from each home room, met once a month with Miss Zelma Wisherd, Dean of Girls and League advisor, to discuss pressing questions which arose.

At the beginning of each semester, the senior members of the Club entertained the new girls at the Big and Little Sisters Tea. Both parties were a great success this year, and helped the new girls get acquainted.

The Girls' Jinx, held in October, was a night of fun for every girl who attended. Prizes for the funniest protest and the best costumes went to Precce St. John and Lorraine Burch, respectively.

The Welfare Committee, headed by Janet Rapaport and Marian Arnitz, also played its part well in the League. Every year the girls give baskets to the needy families in the community. Boxes placed in each room were soon overflowing, before they were collected and distributed on Thanksgiving.

The outstanding activity of the Girls' League was the Vice Versa dance, to which the girls invited the boys. The untiring efforts of LaVille Wicks and her committee made the affair a really spectacular duplicate of the San Francisco Fair. We won't forget soon, will we, boys?

The League entertained for the last time at the Mothers' and Daughters' Tea on April 1. A fashion show at which the members of the sewing classes exhibited their year's efforts, was the highlight of the program.

The club's activities were not confined to Napa, for Margie Tonascia, Georgina Throne and Miss Zelma Wisherd attended the Girls' League Convention at Buellton High on Saturday, October 29.

The Boys' League, organized for the first time this year at Napa Union High School, endeavors to promote democratic citizenship and cooperation, to preserve and beautify the school, and encourage worthwhile activities for all boys enrolled.

The need for such an organization was evident for some time. In 1935, a Boys Welfare organization directed by Mr. Roy Buelman was formed composed of the president, vice president and athletic manager of the A.S.B., presidents of the classes and other elective members of the student body. Many capable and willing boys worked on the several committees of the club. In 1936, however, this worthy club dissolved.

Two years ago, a committee headed by Ernie Sander attempted to form a Boys League but the boys of the school did not seem to agree, and nothing resulted from the efforts of the committee.

In the fall of 1938, to meet the need for such an organization, a constitution resembling that of the Girls' League was drawn up under the able supervision of Mr. Edwin Eagle, presented to the student executive, and ratified. The boys of the student body council acted as a nominating committee to choose the first officers.

The outstanding meetings of the year included an athletic program, featuring three interesting boxing matches, a basketball game between the men of the faculty and the "Papooseknives," and an illustrated lecture by Mr. Herman Bude describing his adventures in Alaska.

The chief project undertaken was the promotion of quiet, orderly assemblies.

A fine spirit of enthusiasm and cooperation has been evident from the founding of the League.

Senior Play

In Beech Lodge at Bamberly, in Sussex, England, a young girl was confronted one night with the horrible sight of her murdered father.

Who had done the deed it was almost impossible to fathom. Mrs. Thursby, who had bought Beech Lodge before the attack, seemed to be concealing a great deal. Perkins, the housekeeper, too, was very queer, perhaps insane. And Martin, the gardener, was unable to talk about any of the circumstances without breaking into a storm of emotion. Then one night a chisel-faced Man, Blunt, appeared in the door, trying to sell his wares. He seemed to know too much about the murdered man and a strange jade god that Millicent had picked up in the Orient.

Victim of everything was poor little Jean Millicent. The curse of the Jade God, supposedly the cause of her father's troubles, seemed to have caught her, too, in its thralldom of ill fortune, and she feared to bring Jack Derrick under the same threat by marrying him.

On the evening of May 5, 1933, the Senior Play cast of Napa Union High School planned to solve all of these problems. Perhaps the most skillful acting was done by Georgina Throne, who took the part of Perkins. Ronald Boone, as Blunt, was an exceedingly convincing Oriental, with fine pantomime and use of his voice. The difficult part of Martin was interpreted with surprising sincerity by Vernon Aldrich.

Jean Millicent also required careful portrayal. This character brought to light the exceptional ability of Vernon Aldrich to act a highly emotional part without over-acting. Willa La Vee did a clever piece of interplay with the other actors as Mrs. Thursby. Walter Ware, as Peters, made a handsome and handy policeman. Light spot in the play was certainly Inspector Burke taken in handsome comic form by Douglas Hobson. Claire Lowery gave a true picture of an English sister with her lovely poise and voice. Sustaining all the other parts and binding them together, was that of the conductor, Derrick, who, Bob Custer had done with consummate skill in contrast and timing.

The mystery, however, will remain unsolved, since the auditorium could not be used for production. But the cast deserves much tribute for working the characters and plot out with great finish; most of all, perhaps, because of their sportsmanlike cooperation through five long weeks of rehearsal.

The first success of the Junior Class was to tie the Seniors for the largest percentage of membership of parents in the P.T.A.

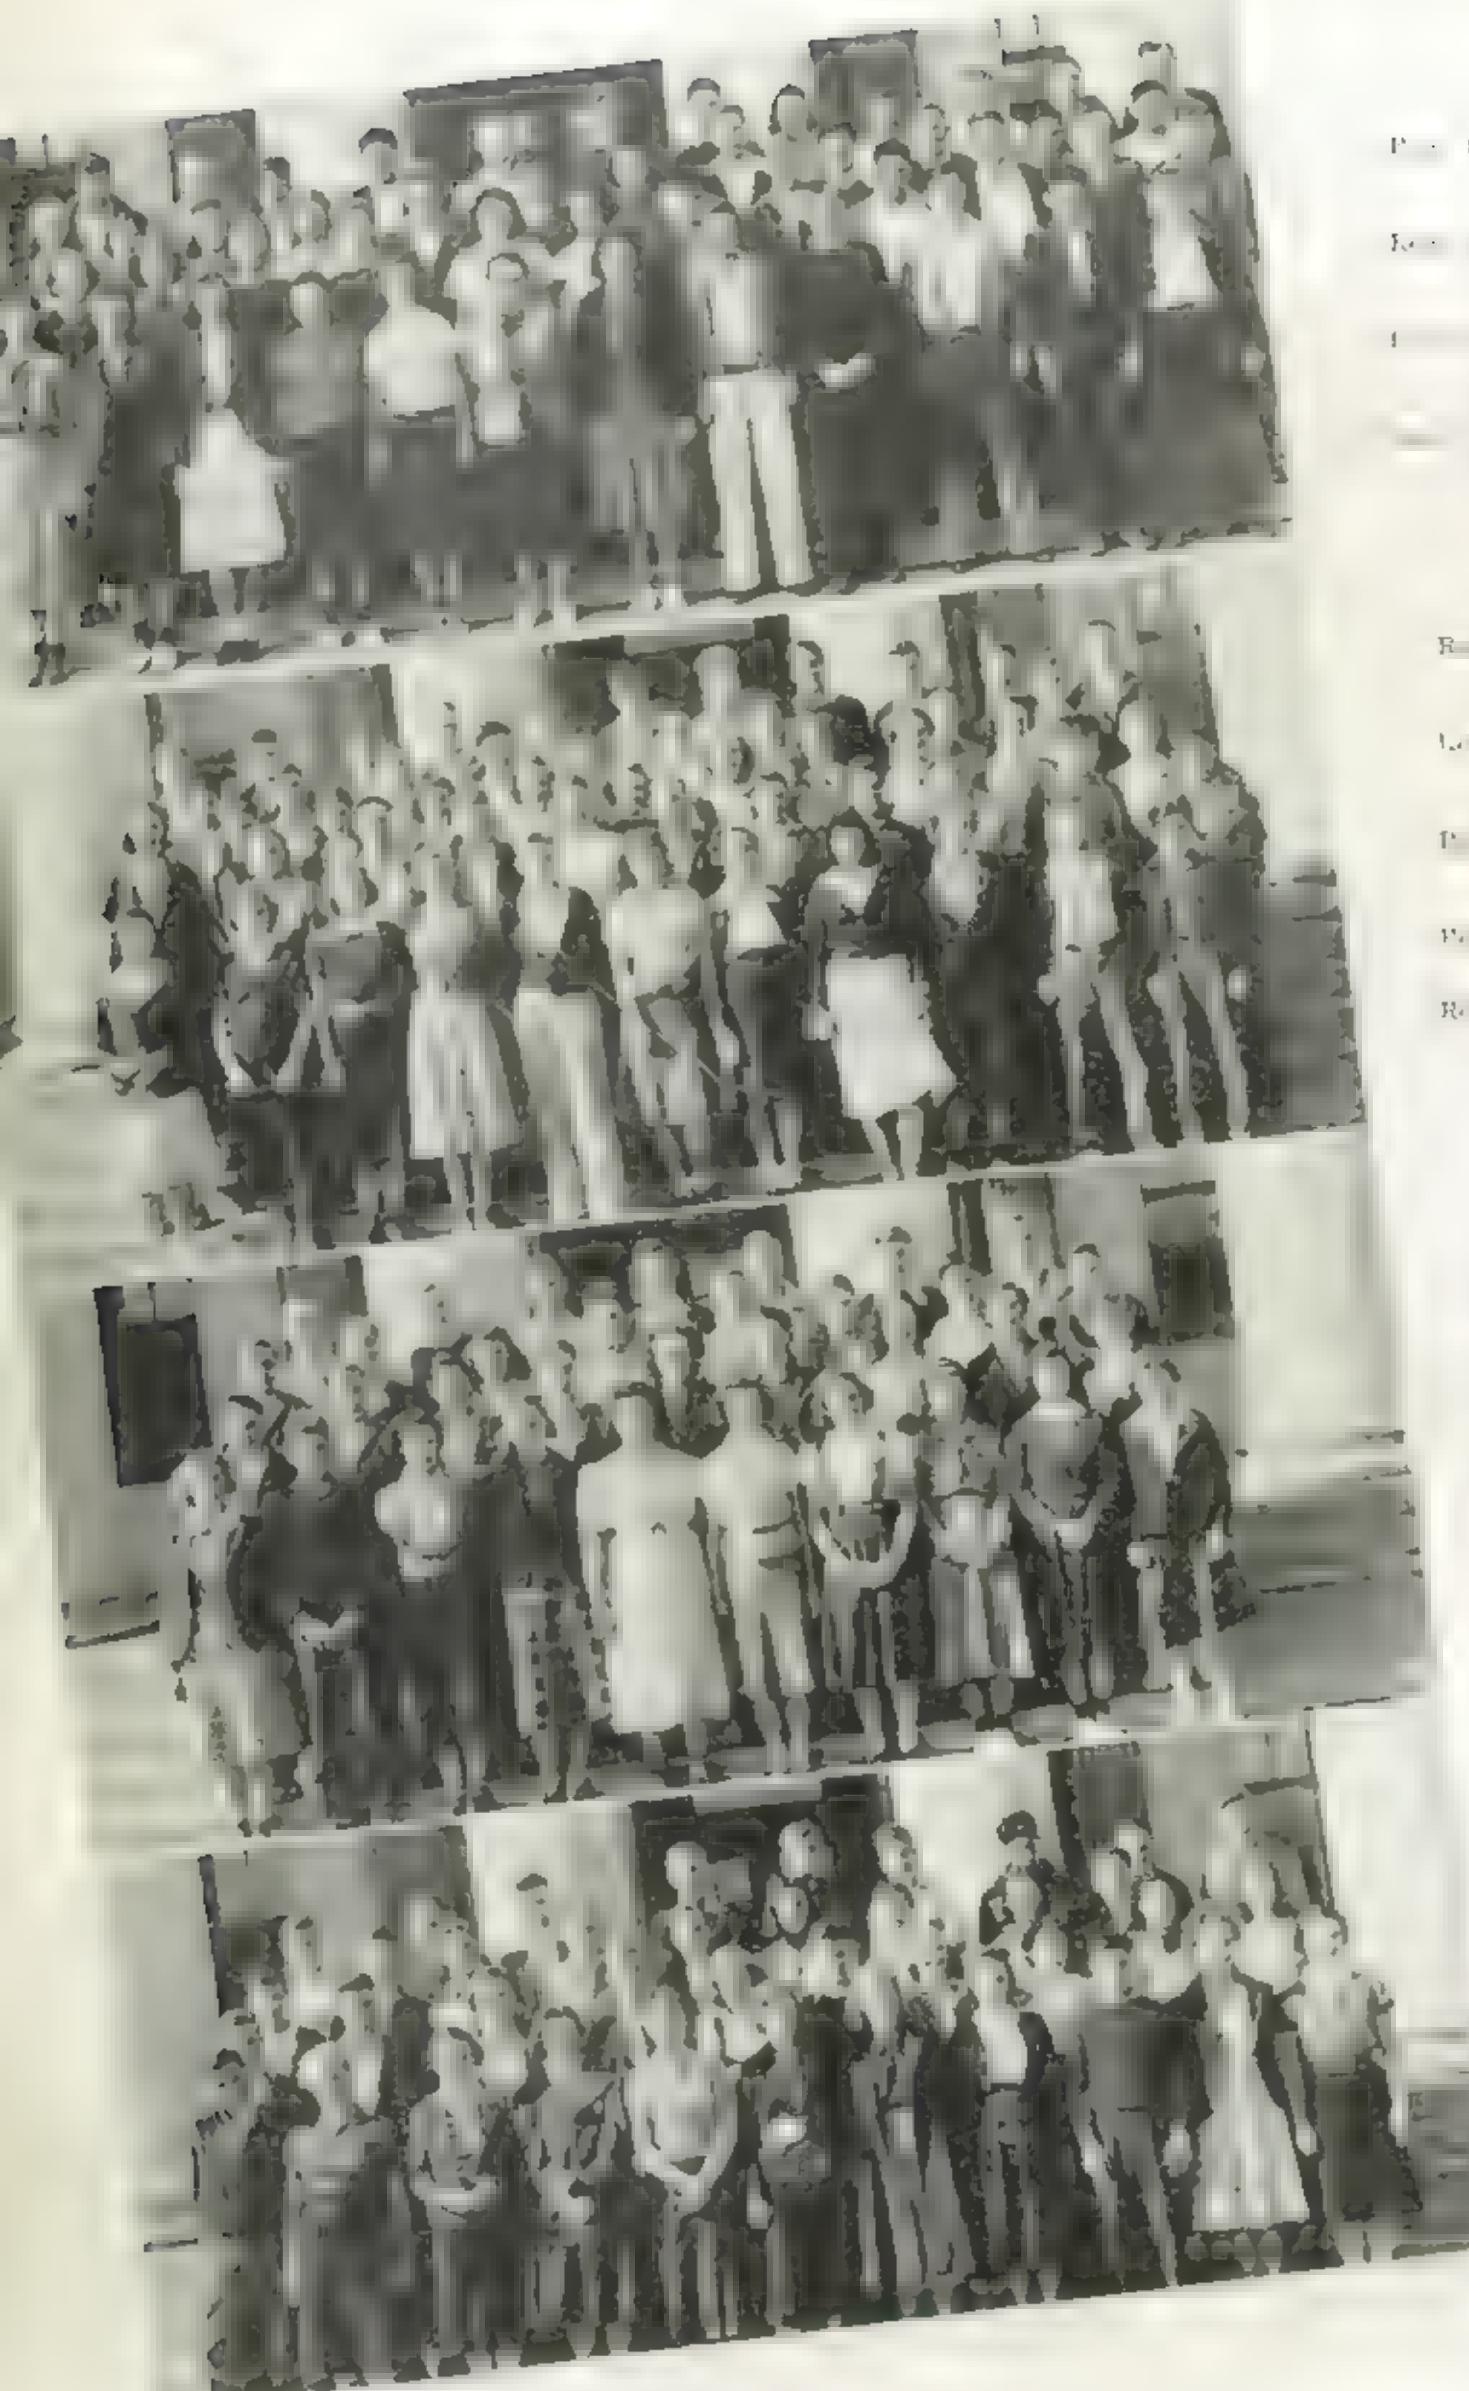

In athletics, Johnny Graves, Dominic Petrillo, Slater Smith, Frank Heid, Bill Beatin, Jerry Callwell, Louis Ceward, Courtney Trotter, Bob Euley, and Ed Clerici, class proxy for the fall semester, brought glory to the Junior Class. In Napa High's latest enthusiasm, golf, Perry Holmes had the best average.

Boys are not alone in their athletic prowess, for the G.A.A. learned that the Junior girls could hold their own. Outstanding in girls' sports were spring Junior Class President, Miriam King; Lorene Peterson, who was also the envy of her fellow typists; A.S.B. yell-leaders, Lorraine Williams, Henrietta Beland, and Marjorie Money; Rosemary Prager, Kathleen Bohem, and Lois Bradford, who often charmed us with her dance performances in assembly programs as well.

Those who have earned membership in C.S.F. are Eleanor Burton, Silvia Casassa, Rosemary Castner, Bob Cudaback, Eleanor Davis, Lorene Peterson, Donald Young, Catherine Zeller, Rosemary Prager, and Suzanne Dopkins, who also brought back laurels for her class when she won first-place in the Treble Clef Society, contest sponsored each year by the University of California. That she rightly deserved the award is realized by all of us who have heard her sing with such ease.

With so many talented members, it is little wonder that the annual Junior Barn dance, a time that's fun for all and all for fun, should have been such a success. Then as a fitting climax to a happy year, came the formal Junior-Senior Prom.

Mr. W. O. Johnson, class advisor, was assisted by Mr. Elrick as financial advisor and Miss Christensen as social advisor.

The first affair of the Sophomores came in the form of a dance, the Sophomore Hop, held on October twenty ninth. The committee under the chairmanship of Dick Woods, worked hard to make this dance a success. The decorations consisted of large drawings of horrible creatures referred to as witches and goblins on the four walls of the Big Gym. The final touch of the Halloween theme was carried out by a human skeleton dancing from the rafters in the center of the Gym. Music was furnished by Al Thorpe. The first Sophomore social function was declared a huge success by all.

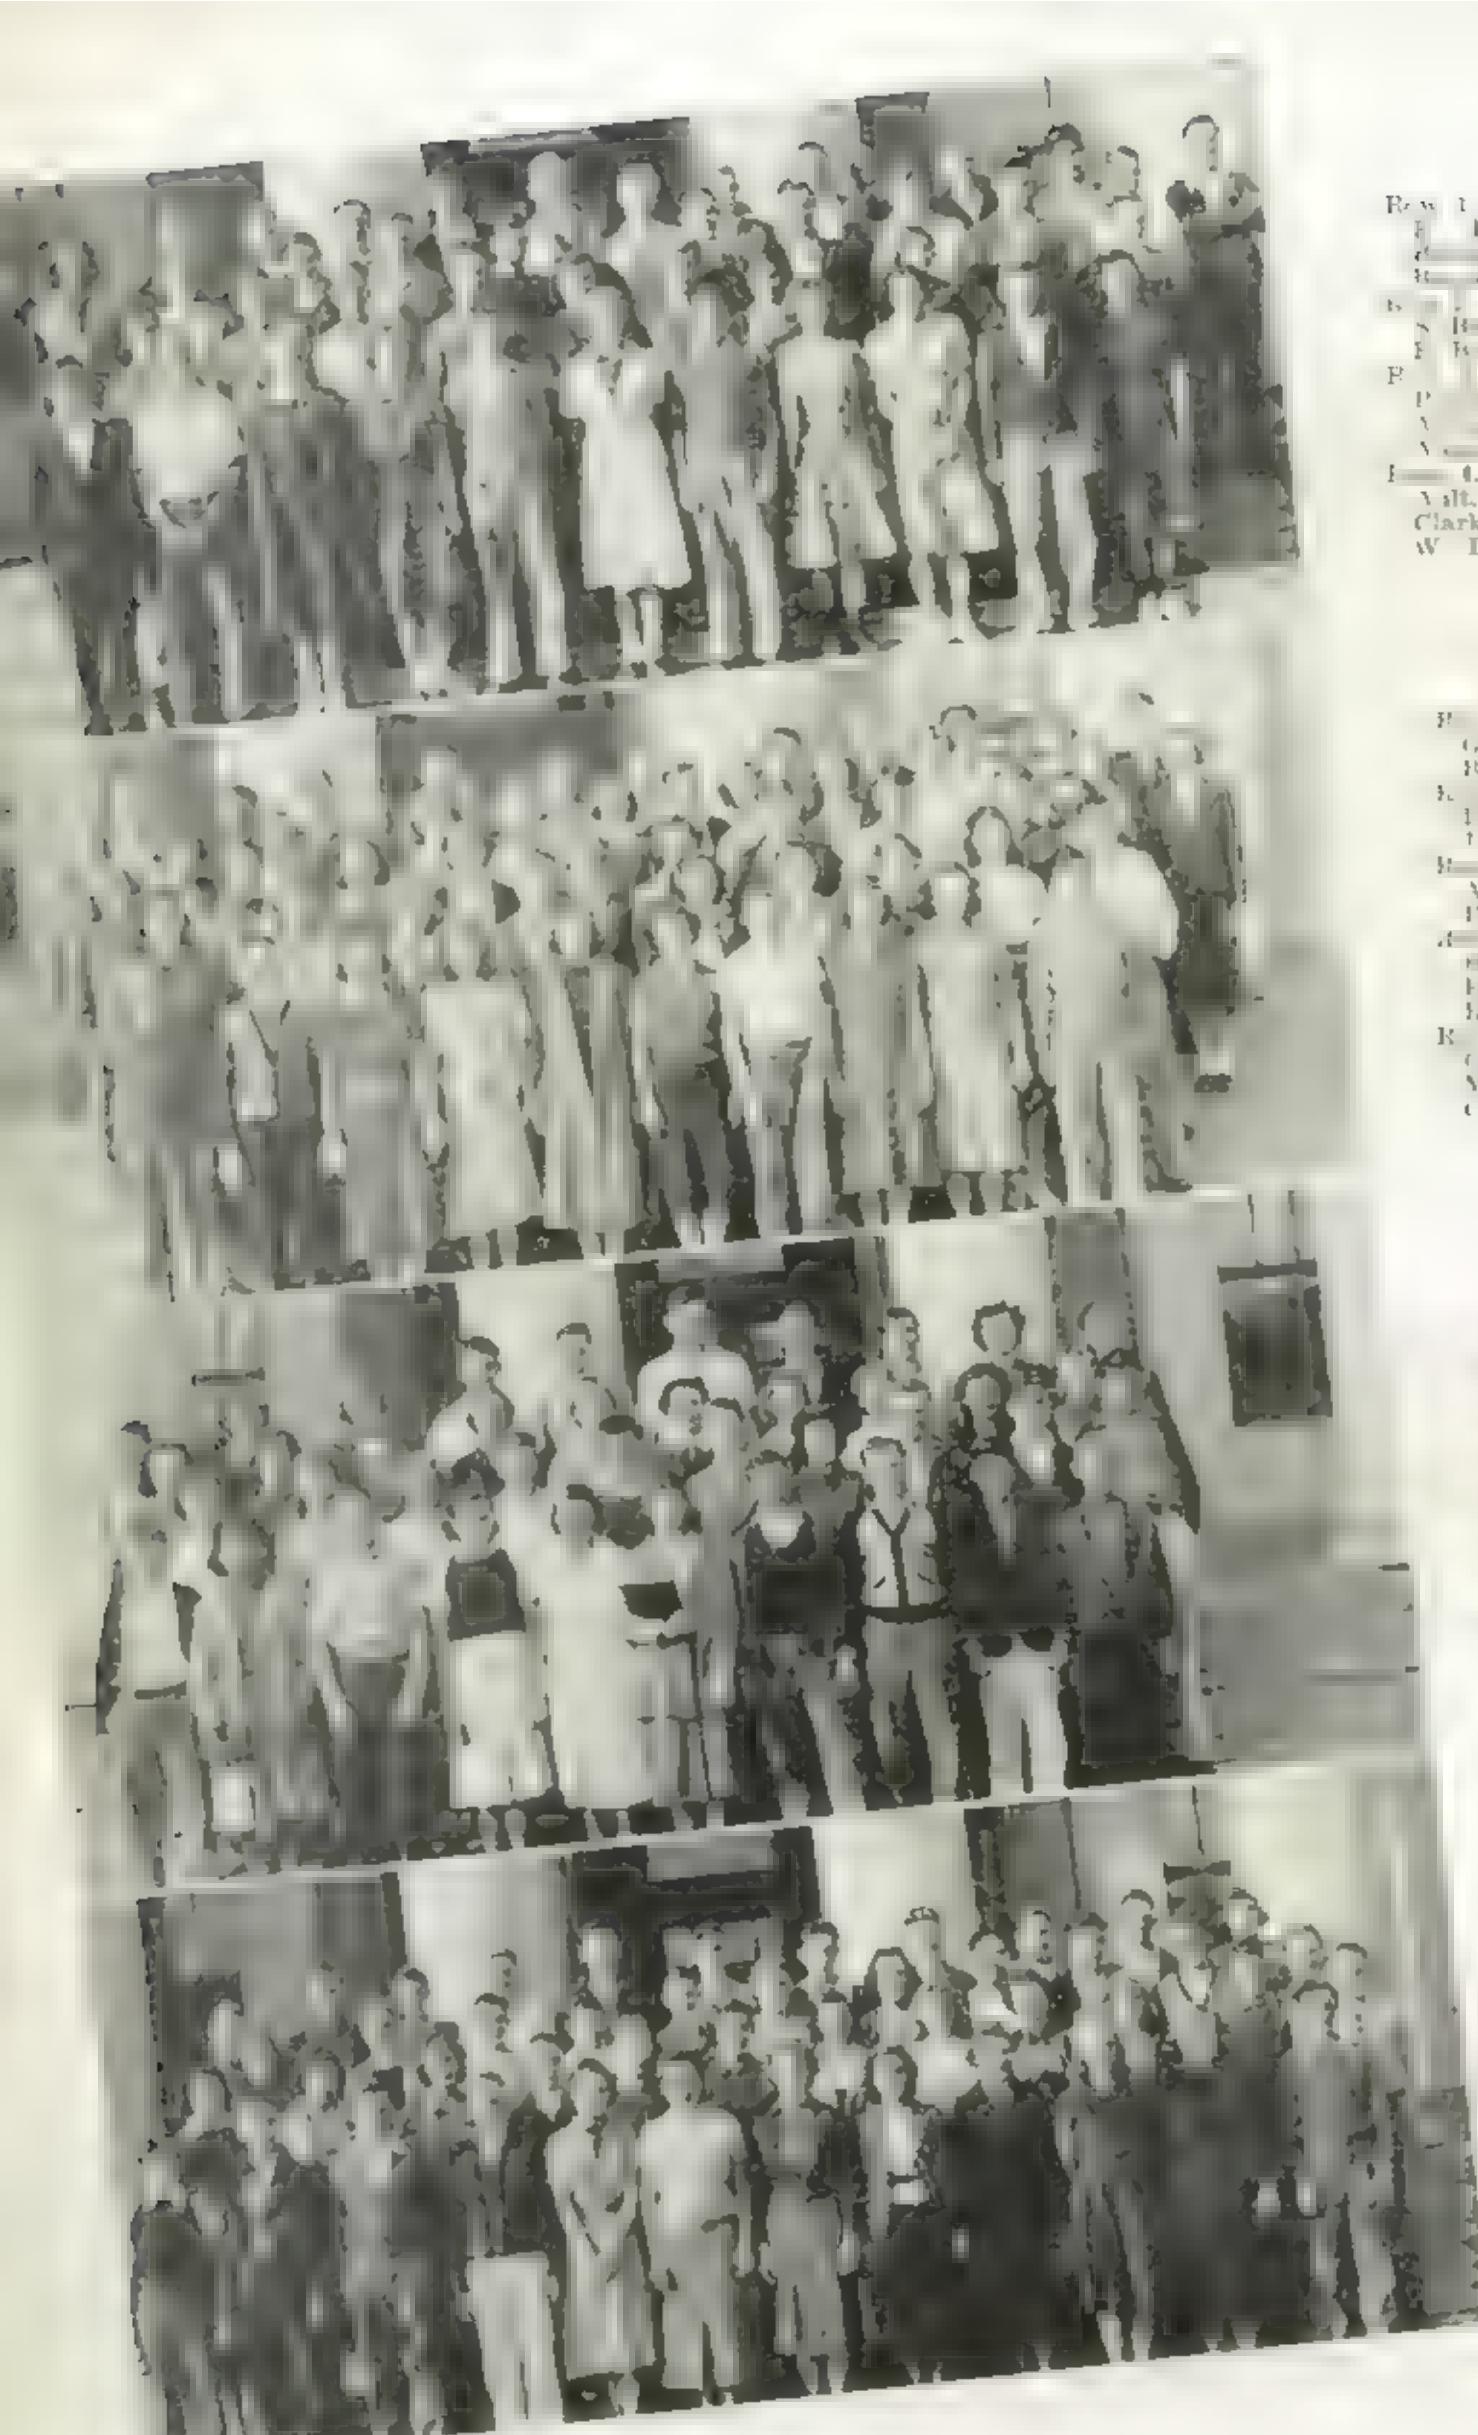

Some of the Sophomores who are showing leadership are Dick Woods, fall semester president of Junior Forum, Howard Dickenson French Club president and "Ye Ode Drama Clubbe" prexy; and Joan Morin, social director of the Latin Club.

In the athletic field are more prominent Sophs. Charles "Bud" Townsend, fall president of the class, is an outstanding athlete. He is the proud possessor of a gold football. He can also boast justly of the fact that he went over the line for the first touchdown Napa scored against Valen since 1932. Members also of that championship football team from the Sophomore Class are Bob Cavagnaro and Bill Giovannini. When the first semester ended the basketball season was still going strong with a number of Sophs on both A and B. squads. On the baseball diamond any afternoon one could witness Warren "Lettie" Sosnowsky pitching for the Napa Indian nine. Bob Gertli, Bob Rapaport and Dick Woods reported faithfully to Coach Meister to help uphold the name of Napa in tennis singles and doubles.

Bob Corlett was destined to lead the class through the spring semester. Bob also can be depended upon to be on the list of honor card holders each quarter and so maintains his standing in C.S.F. along with Howard Dickenson, Evelyn Timmons, Jacqueline Wilkenson, Elaine Ferrario, Charlotte Inman, John Dunlap, Bob Rapaport and Harold Blomberg, president of the honor organization.

The Sophomore girls of G.A.A. tied with the Seniors and Juniors for first place in interclass basketball, losing only one game to the Juniors. Those who have already earned Block N's are Eleanor Bones, Elaine Ferrario, Charlotte Inman, Genevieve Savano, and Jane Hein, who is secretary of the Block N Society, of the "Ye Ode Drama Clubbe", and of the Sophomore Class.

Class advisors for the year were Mr. Edwin Conners, Miss Myrtle Kime, and Miss Ruth Elliott.

Our first year in Napa Union High School has been a particularly significant one and great hopes are held that we, members of the Class of 1940, will make real progress as we witness the unfolding of the years before us.

Some very interesting events have occurred during this past year—notably, the two Frosh Initiations, held on September 23 and February 18, the Freshman Reception, which occurred on October 15, and as the final event of the year, the Frosh Frolic.

The first initiation was, indeed, most interesting. Some of the special features included the appearance of members of the Varsity backfield, who turned out to be some of the smaller members of our class, a tomato-eating contest, a shaving contest, and last, a splendid dramatization of the ever popular Romeo and Juliet by Bob Etche and Marion Evans.

The Reception was well attended. The autumn theme was effectively used throughout and brought much praise from those in attendance. Al Thorpe and his orchestra played.

General Chairman Donald Bloomberg and his committee gave us a most successful 1939 Frosh Frolic. This annual event has developed into an affair to which all new students look forward with anticipation. The main objective of the affair is to give the Freshmen an opportunity to enjoy their own company. Talent displayed in the program during the early part of the evening included solos by Les Hein and Steve Brinchi, piano selections by Virginia Marisse and John Bertino, dramatic presentations by Marion Bartels, Jessie Frost, and Virginia Forsythe. The most unique feature of the evening's entertainment was a group Balinson who held a magic wand while she waved her magic wand and produced "whatnots". Later the group adjourned to the Band Room for dancing and refreshments.

Unique was the initiation of our mid-year Freshmen. Some of the highlights of this event were an apple-ducking contest, won by Eugene Lathrop, a peanut race in which Bill Springer showed his supremacy, a violin solo by Donald Crawford, and the great "hit" of the affair—a bit of fancy romance by none other than Beverly Stoll and the aforementioned Donald Crawford.

The class puts forth its best efforts in other fields than social. Already Marion Bartels, Neva Sahl, Donald Bloomberg, Torrence Bramwell, Doris Hamm, and Marion Evans have gained distinction for the frosh by earning membership in the C.S.F.

Class advisors for the year were Mr. Edwin Eagle, Miss Blanche Scott, Miss Alda Belle Kelsey, and Miss June McGinnis.

Since its first publication in 1910, the Napanee has grown from a literary magazine to a pictorial portrayal of school life. For a while, the name was changed to the Wigwan, and the magazine became a yearbook. In 1933, publication of the Napanee was stopped and Napa Hi stood a serious chance of losing its annual. Through the efforts of the student body, however, it was saved. During the past three years, it has won second-place national rating.

The purpose of the Napanee is to serve as a memory book of four years of high school life, and its various editions strive to keep pace with the times when they are published.

In past years, the lay-out of the book has been seriously limited by the fact that much of its financial support was derived from the clubs. It was therefore necessary to devote space to each club proportionate to the amount of money paid. This year, to insure a more adaptable and interesting plan, it was arranged to release four good movies, thus freeing the Napanee from space obligations, and the clubs from their struggle to raise money. The plan has proved most satisfactory.

The staff, chosen from members of the Senior Class, is formally appointed by the president of the A.S.B. The work of editing the annual rests in the hands of a limited group of students who feel a great responsibility and pride in their work.

Faculty financial advisor for the 1939 Napanee was Mr. C. B. Youtz. Editing and publishing were handled jointly by Miss Helen Blume and Miss June McGinnis. The complete advisorship of the 1940 copy will be assumed by Miss McGinnis.

The Nuhs, a five-column weekly journal, published as an authentic source of school news, has kept the students informed on school activities. It is a student-governed, student-owned, and student-managed paper.

Last year, in the Quill and Scroll contest, sponsored by the Medill School of Journalism at Northwestern University, the Nuhs captured an international first place award for distinctive achievements in scholastic journalism. A national second-place award was won in the Columbia Scholastic Press Association contest.

The Nuhs was organized in 1922 by enterprising students who wanted some means of relating school business. It was first a mimeographed sheet and since that time, has grown to be a five-column weekly. Subscriptions, which sold semi-annually, average approximately five hundred each year.

The paper has endeavored to advance the student government at Napa Hi by aiding in the enforcement of the penal code and by promoting orderly halls and assemblies. The staff hoped, by the use of a letter column, to aid students in expressing their views on problems and activities of the student body.

Several contests were sponsored during the year to stimulate interest and encourage contributions to the many columns of the paper. In order to keep up with the times and give our students the very best type of paper, representatives from the staff attended the press convention at the University of California, held March 30, 31, and April 1.

Volume twenty-four of the Nuhs published during the first semester of this year received another second place award in the Columbia contest.

Miss McMahon, who helped to build the Nuhs into one of the best school papers in the United States, in February turned her duties over to Advisor Robert Linn.

A Cappella Choir

Music

Music at Napa High is finding enthusiastic expression under the direction of Mr. Merle Good and Miss Helen Burfield.

Students and townspeople were thrilled to see a forty-five-member band march out in uniform on the Vallejo field the night at the Big Game. One of the most ambitious projects of the Band was to purchase beautiful uniforms on a loan. Handsome trousers were donated by Mr. Rothman of the Rough Rider Factory. The Native Sons of the Golden West took the first step to clear the Band's debt by giving a dance at the Napa Pavilion on February 21, at which three hundred dollars was cleared.

The Orchestra, too, has contributed largely to many school programs. Also under the instruction of Mr. Good, it built up a dignified atmosphere for the inauguration of Student Body officers, and for Graduation.

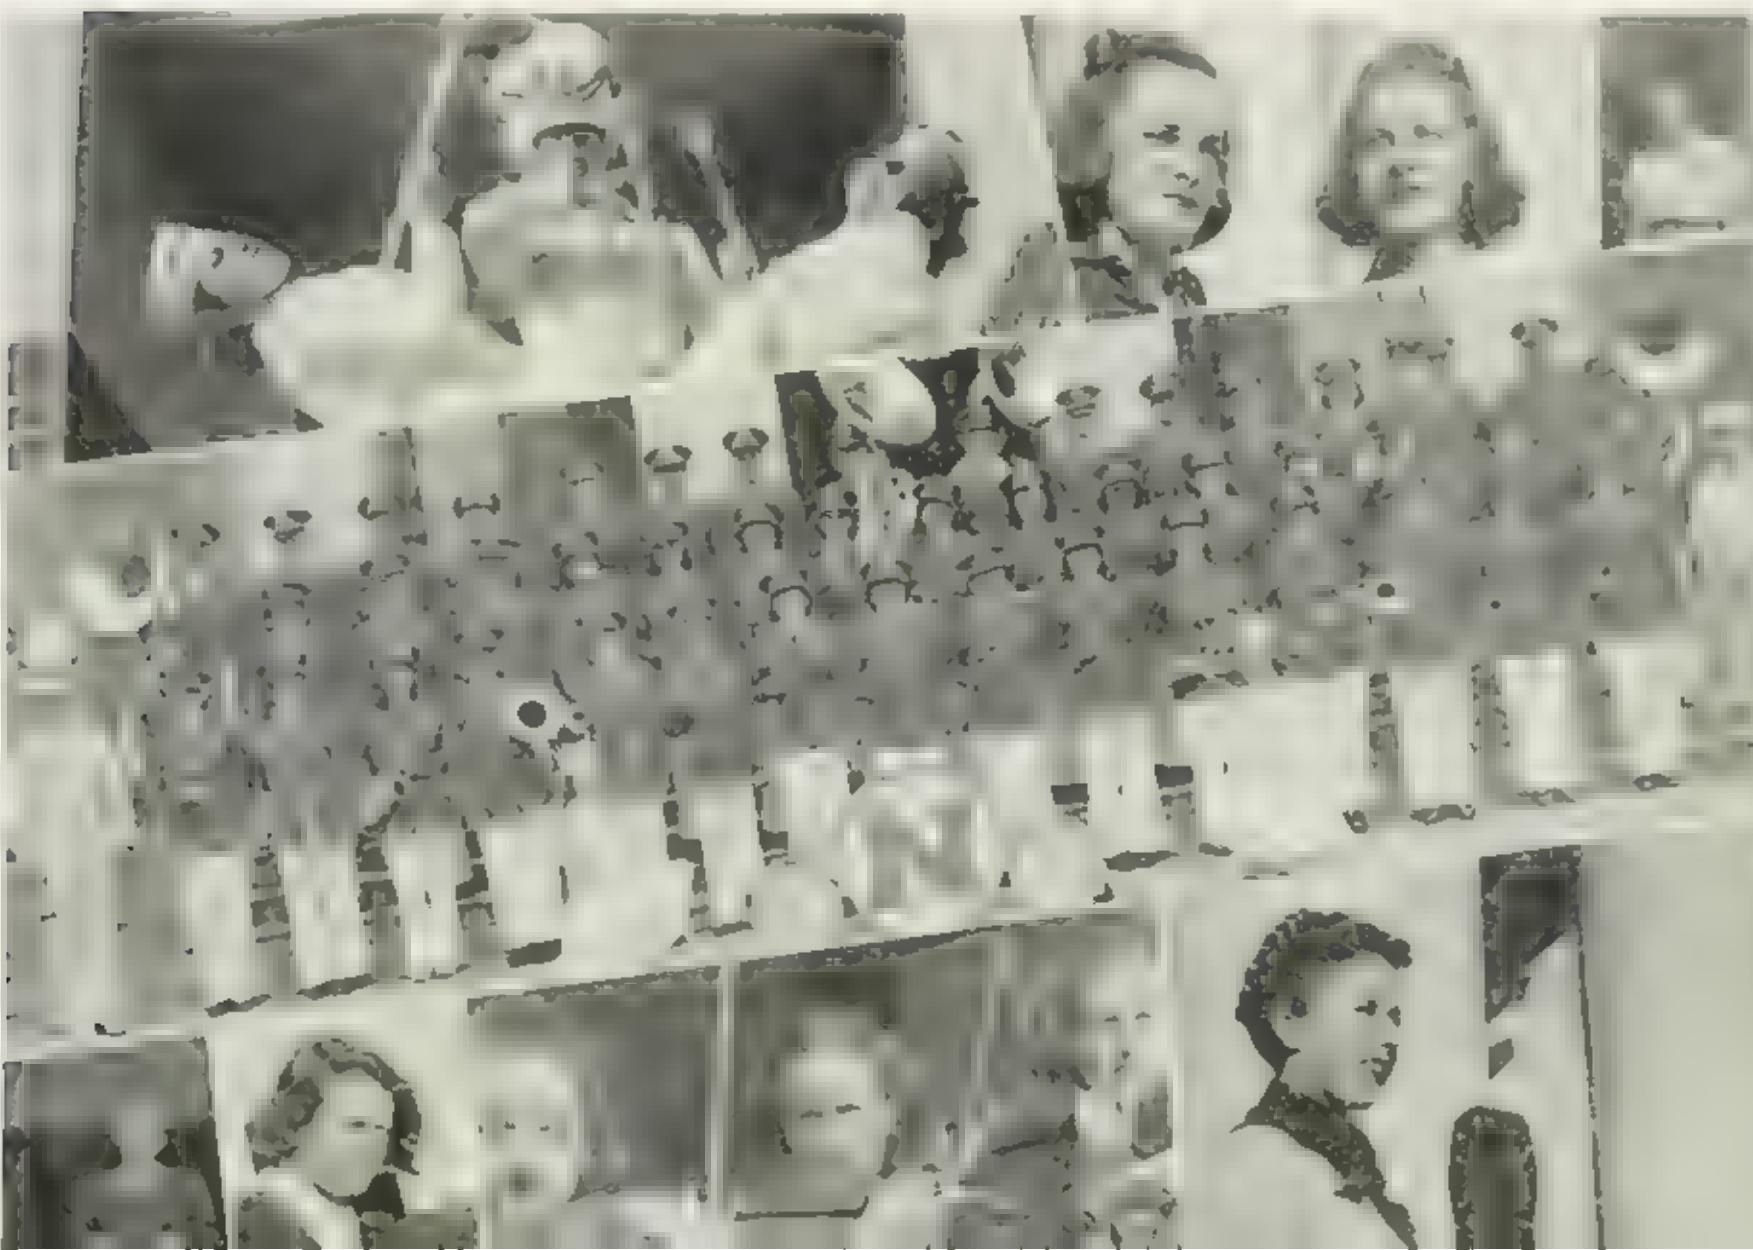

For beginning vocal students, Mr. Good has organized a group of twenty boys and twenty girls into a Beginners Mixed Chorus.

Another club showing a vital interest in music is that called the Half-Timers, composed of students from Miss Burfield's Music Appreciation class. The purpose of the club is to acquaint its members with all kinds of music, both classical and modern.

Some of the most finely finished choral work has been contributed this year by the A Cappella Choir, which is sponsored also by Miss Helen Burfield. Dressed in the lovely blue gowns, these twenty-two advanced singers have supplied a type of music which compels attention and appreciation.

One of the Choir's biggest enterprises was the Autumn Festival, where it joined with the Orchestra and the Girls' Athletic Association to produce a very colorful program. The Christmas season took on a reverent and beautiful atmosphere from carols sung by blue-clad choristers bearing lighted candles. The choir was also asked to make many public appearances. In the fall, Suzanne Dopkins, a member of the A Capella, won first place for women soloists at the Treble and Bass Clef music contest at the University of California.

In April, our Band, Orchestra, Mixed Chorus, and A Capella Choir all attended the School Music Festival on Treasure Island, and the Choir attended the All-Western Music Conference at Long Beach.

Le Cercle Français

During the past year, Le Cercle Francais members enjoyed a barbecue at Lokoya in the fall, a journey to the California Memorial Stadium in Berkeley to watch the Bears in action, a Christmas party at the Napa Valley Country Club, and a bit of Hawaiian hospitality at their formal dance on March twenty-fifth. Most novel was the distribution of invitations in telegram form. Mrs. John Locke has been the club advisor since its organization.

Les Bebes

Each year, the Les Bebes, a club for French I students, has been preparing the "youngsters" for the advanced society, Le Cercle Francais. At the meetings, held every other Friday during class period, Mrs. John Locke helps the students converse in French to encourage them to use fluently what they have learned. Games and many other devices help the students develop speaking vocabularies and render expression natural and easy in French.

Mas Vale Tarde Que Neunca

The Spanish Club, Mas Vale Tarde Que Neunca, organized in 1923, gathers for good times at the home of its advisor, Mr. Walter Hemmerling. There the Spaniards attempt to use as much of their Spanish vocabulary as possible in typical games and amusements. In the spring, the members attend a Spanish movie in San Francisco.

Der Goethe Verein

Der Goethe Verein enjoys many jolly meetings at the home of Mr. Walter Lemmie Ling, where they learn typical German games and songs. A high spot on the social calendar was a trip to San Francisco on March ninth to enjoy the German operetta, "Two Hearts in Waltz Time."

Sodalitas Latina

Membership in Sodalitos Latina is limited to first-year students who earn two consecutive A's, and second-year students who receive a grade of B. Miss Helen Banne, the club advisor, feels that the purpose of the club should be not only to maintain a high scholarship, but also to learn how to mix with ease socially.

Home Economics

The Home Economics Department offers several of the most popular courses in the school. Since its beginning, it has attracted many students and increased steadily in size. Perhaps the social clubs in the department have helped to make the courses more interesting. A few of these formed by the classes under the supervision of their instructors are the S.O.S. Club, the Service Club, the Triple C, and the He-Men Club.

The S.O.S. is an organization of the sewing class. It meets outside of school to make clothes for needy children.

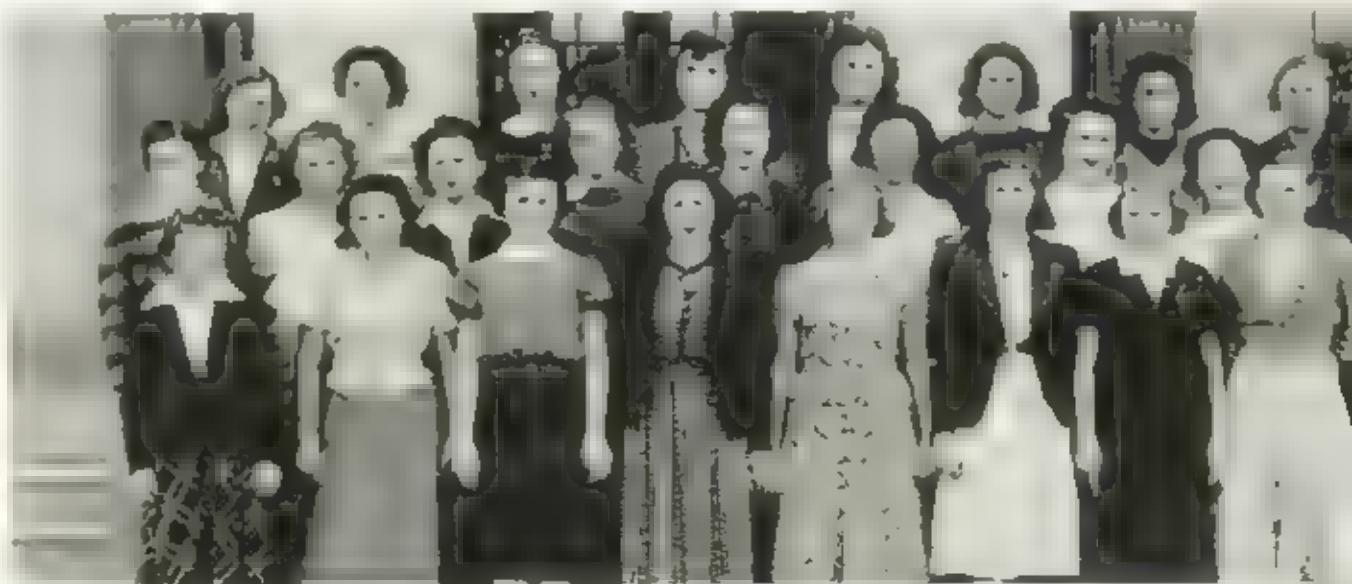

The Service Club, T²T, was formed by the members of the girls' cooking class and gives the girls training in setting tables and serving properly. Many girls have obtained occupation through this club.

The Triple C, formed by the Child Care Class, was organized in 1930 under the direction of Miss Parker. The members of the club are all upper-division students who meet monthly at the home of one of the members. Besides these monthly social gatherings, the members annually visit the Shriner's Hospital in San Francisco.

The He-Men Club is an organization formed of the members of the boys' cooking class. One of the oldest of the clubs, and one of the most unique, it has also proved to be so popular that Miss Parker has had to restrict membership to twenty-four Senior boys.

Organizations

There is a wide range of very active clubs in our school which afford students the opportunity to cultivate varied interests and exercise many types of talent.

This year their number swelled to a total of twenty-seven. Most of these activities are carried on after school hours by teachers who freely contribute their time, so that our students may enjoy a well-rounded program.

Honor Societies

National Honor Society

Elwin Covey, President

Jane Van Pelt, Vice-President

Gladys Cowan, Secretary

The National Honor Society, a nation-wide organization, now has 2401 chapters throughout every state of the Union. In the whole state of California, there are but eight chapters, of which Napa is fortunate to be one.

The honor of election to the National Honor Society is most coveted by every student in school, for it represents the highest award attainable in any secondary school. Members are chosen every year by the faculty in recognition of well-rounded qualities of scholarship, leadership, character, and service, the four cardinal objectives of the society. Any student elected to membership represents special qualities in many diversified interests.

Since the Napa Chapter was formed in 1925, with Mr. Walter Hemmerling as advisor, one hundred fifty-two members have been elected, sixty-four boys and eighty-eight girls. Thirteen members from the Class of '39 gained this high recognition.

This year, the local chapter undertook a special project of trying to interest other schools of the North Bay League to form new chapters of the society.

The California Scholarship Federation was organized at Napa Union High School in 1925, with Miss Sarah Lynch the faculty advisor. Its purpose is to promote scholarship and service among high school students and urge them on to higher education.

A student is eligible to membership in the C. S. F. during the semester following the one in which ten grade-points have been earned. Members are allowed to wear pins for a semester; life membership, awarded to the Seniors who have held temporary membership for six semesters, means the permanent gift of a pin.

In the first semester of this year, thirty-two students composed the Napa Chapter 119 of the C.S.F., and the membership increased to forty during the second semester.

Activities of the California Scholarship Federation, other than the monthly meetings, included the district meet at Treasure Island on March 18, and the Sneak D.ay.

Sports

The Elephant Towers stand guard on either side of the Portals of the Pacific, helping them shield the heart of the Fair from the cool winds which sweep through the Golden Gate. For this purpose, all surfaces are turned upward and outward. Elephants and howdahs were the work of Donald Macky.

Football

Napa High was really put back on the football map this year, for our team captured a League championship. The Varsity started the season by defeating Mission High in a practice game. For the first few games of the season, Harrison Briles and Gene Harris acted as co-captains.

The first League game was played against Petaluma. Bill Giovannini scored the first touchdown of the game by downing the ball which fell over the goal line on the opening kickoff. This score began a victorious game for Napa. During the League season Napa won five games and lost one.

In the backfield, playing good defensive football were Gene Harris and John Graves. The two ends, Harrison Briles and John Brown, could always be depended upon to back up the line. On the offensive, Bomber Dom Petrillo, captain for the season, and Bud Townsend played excellent football.

The annual Napa-Vallejo game was the very best in twelve years for Napa, as the team defeated the Navy City team by a score of 7-0 for the League title.

The entire team this year worked as a unit with no true star players. Each man fulfilled his assignment well. Elected to the All Conference team were Harrison Briles, John Brown, and Gene Harris. Certainly much credit should be given to Coaches Herm Meister and John Colledge for producing such a championship team.

The Napa Puposes, under Captain Paul Bohan, fought hard in all their games but were up against heavy odds. With plenty of fighting spirit, the players give some fine exhibitions of hard-fought football.

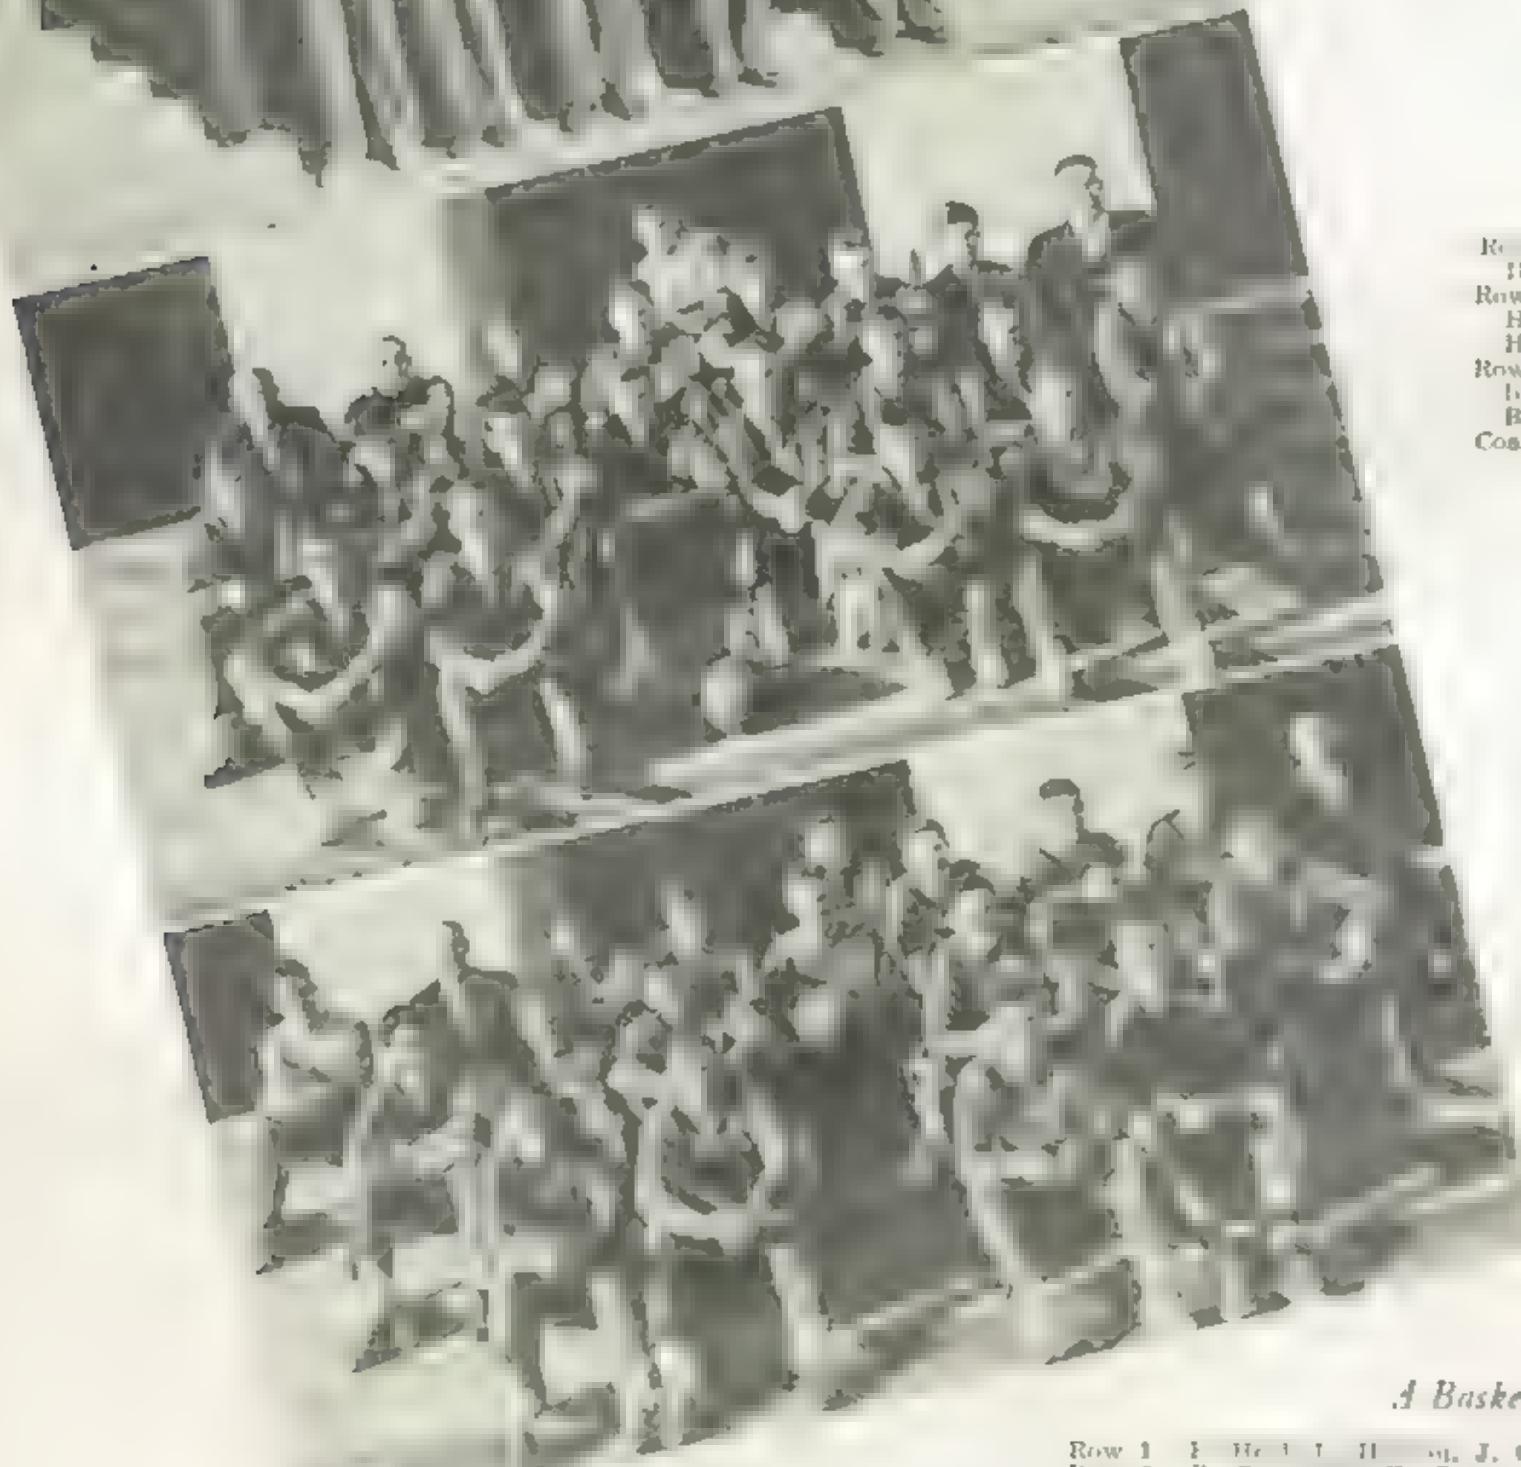

Opening the season with a practice game against St. Helena Varsity, the light-weights showed promise of good material; but in the next few games, it seemed that they were off to a bad start.

Throughout the season, Gerry Caldwell, triple-threat man, gave other teams something to worry about. Captain Paul Bohan and his brother, Ray, were strong on the line. Ed Cericci, another line man, stood out when it came to stopping line plunges. Bill Bertino, all-round man in passing, kicking, and running, proved to be the most valuable player on the team. McMillin's turning tackles proved effective more than once during the season.

Coach Bob La Rue did not claim a championship team this past season, but he surely had something there. More than once, we lost by only a very slim majority.

Outside of the first Vallejo game, each conference game was missed by not more than four points, and during the season, we had to play three overtime games to work off ties. Things looked bright when the season opened with a victory over Sonoma on December 2. Napa's speedy five completely outclassed the Dragons. That seems strange when one realizes that at the end of the season, Sonoma was the champion team of this section.

Captain "Hank" Sohl was the star defense throughout the season. Coach La Rue depended on Graves and Kinder for offensive playing. If Harris, strong in both defensive and offensive, had not been disqualified in February because of four years' play, Napa might have won a higher rating in the League. Petrone, Cavanagh, and De Maldena were able supporters of Napa's first string. Twenty boys—four complete teams—went out for A basketball this season. The third and fourth-string substitutes formed "The Ramblers", who were undefeated in their night games.

Doesn't that indicate that Napa fans should see some mighty fancy basketball on the Lincoln Avenue hardwood next season?

Howard Talley, captain of the B team, rightfully deserved the honor bestowed him by his team-mates, for he consistently played fast, steady ball. He and Clerici always put on a show, passing, dribbling, and sinking 'em from odd angles. Though the team did not earn a high position in League standing, the boys lost their games by slim margins, and Coach Colledge felt that his efforts were not in vain.

With Max Trujillo as its captain, the C Basketball team put up a brave fight. Though no conference honors were sacked, Coach La Rue says it must be remembered that every boy on the team was playing competitive high school basketball for the first time, and therefore much credit is due the squad.

G. A. A., directed by Miss Margery McCormick, showed unusual enthusiasm during 1938-1939, with Phyllis Bryan and Beverly Doughty as fall and spring presidents.

Color week was held November 7-12. The sale of pompoms and emblems which added so much color and pep to the never-to-be-forgotten Vallejo game, helped also to enlarge the association's treasury. On December 3, the Napa girls were hostesses to St. Helena and Sonoma at a volleyball play day. Although Napa won both games, all the teams played a good game of volleyball. At the annual G. A. A. Christmas party for incoming Freshmen girls, held Thursday afternoon, December 15, novel programs in the form of letters to Santa were presented to the members and their guests. The success of the affair was greatly due to the untiring efforts of Beverly Doughty and her committee, and to Lorene Peterson, who impersonated Santa. When the girls convened at the gymnasium of the Santa Rosa Junior College for another play day on February 18, they had a grand time.

The Hockey Honor Team for the past year was composed of L. Wright, L. Peterson, M. Money, H. Beland, F. Hunter, G. Savano, V. Switzer, L. Williams, M. King, L. Bradford, and A. Vidal. The Volleyball Honor Team: H. Beland, L. Williams, B. Burch, C. Inman, M. King, L. Peterson, G. Savano, A. Vidal, and B. Richardson. The Basketball Honor Team: Forwards—B. Doughty, M. King, L. Peterson, L. Williams. Guards—M. Money, B. Burch, L. Bradford.

As the year drew to a close, tennis, badminton, archery, and swimming brought many an enthusiastic G. A. A. member into interclass games. Parties, hikes, weenie-roasts and picnics helped round out a successful season. The final play day of the year held at Vallejo saw Napa, Benicia, and Vallejo taking part in various games. The G. A. A. year was brought to a close at the combined banquet held in Vallejo, with Napa and Sonoma girls as guests. Block N awards were made and the interclass cup was presented to the Juniors, the class winning the most points.

At the award assembly in June, Phyllis Bryan received the only fourth-year award. Instead of the usual purple chenille letter, a gold pin was presented to her. Third-year awards were given to Margie Money, Mirriam King, Lorene Peterson, Virginia Switzer, and Lorraine Williams. Second-year blocks were presented to Hetta Beland, Eleanor Bones, Kathleen Bohen, Lois Bradford, Beverly Doughty, Elaine Ferrario, Barbara Geoghegan, Jane Hein, Charlotte Inman, and Genevieve Savano.
